The teacher is amazing. He got me skating on the ill fitting, crappy skates of my nephew June 7th. Then I ordered really good skates that are fast and very pretty! hee hee hee. After my major wipeout last Sunday, I have not been back on them because I was truly scared. Well, Chris once again proved why he is an amazing teacher. At the end of the hour and a half, I was skating quickly and loving it. I obtained my Level C certificate. Got my level D last class. He said the average person who takes the courses with them are middle class to high class and are between 30 and 45. I said, Oh S#@t!, I expire in a month!!!!!! As well, I don't even qualify in the class thing. Problader has trained movie stars too when they are filming in Toronto. He has met and trained many, including the infamous J Lo or Lola as she now likes to be called. He has also met Tom Cruise. Kind of fun because my scuba dive shop always gets called to help with dive scenes when movies or tv shows are being filmed here. Maybe if I hang out with the rich and famous I will become one of the rich and famous! LMAO!!!!!!

Anyway, just goes to show you, you are never to old to learn something new. To take chances and risks. The oldest person they have trained to rollerblade.... An 83 year old man that was amazingly fit, a jogger!
