Inline Skating Schools and Workshops for All Ages

Inline Skating Schools

By Carlesa Williams, About.com

Learn to skate or become a certified inline skating instructor at inline skating schools and workshops for everyone from beginners to potential coaches. Programs are usually available for everyone from tots to adults. Some classes offer aggressive, speed, freestyle slalom and hockey specific training and activities, too. Many include training for the competitive level inline sports. If you know of aggressive, speed, hockey, freestyle slalom, figure or multi-sport skating training programs that should be included in this list, please contact your inlineskating guide via the Inline Skating Forum<sup>1</sup>.

The United Skate Schools Group – Worldwide<sup>2</sup>

© United Skate Schools Group

The United Skate Schools Group works to bring inline skating, roller skating and skateboarding school owners and instructors together to share ideas and develop the sports. Membership is open to all skating professionals no matter how big or small the program may be. The USSG creates a professional atmosphere that helps open up teaching opportunities and encourage networking between inline and roller sports instructors.

SkatEtrain™ is a revolutionary web-based training solution for inline and ice speedskaters all over the world. The program provides a variety of adjustable training options to meet the needs and budget of any skater. SkatEtrain™ coach, Barry Publow, is one of the leading authorities on sport-specific training and has worked for months to develop a Tabata-based training protocol to be used by competitive inline athletes. These workouts provide a catalyst for performance improvement, while other training enhances the body's ability to rebuild, regenerate muscle tissue, and replenish fuel stores. This is great training for a specific event or to optimize your fitness level so you can skate with the fast crowd.

Eddy Matzger Workshop – Florida, USA<sup>12</sup>

The typical Eddy Matzger Workshop is an intense, participatory, interactive skating and racing workshop taught by the one-and-only 6-time winner of Athens-to-Atlanta. No other skate clinic comes close to offering the personal attention and instruction of this weekend workshop. Now Eddy has taken his show on the road and provides an annual schedule of balance, form and technique training to locations around the US. All you need to bring is your body, your skates and a ton of desire to improve your inline skating technique.

Get Rolling Skate School – California, USA<sup>19</sup>

Liz Miller is an author and Certified Level II Inline Skating Instructor. She works hard to ensure that new inline skaters have very positive first experiences on skates. This is achieved by encouraging them to buy good skating equipment and learn solid basic skills. She also helps more experienced skaters build speed, maneuvering and terrain skills to enhance their inline skating experiences. Liz offers both group and private lessons at her Get Rolling Skate School.
